

Service Statement

Our goal is to provide world-class customer support for the complete line of Security x-ray & metal detection products. Support is provided by highly qualified and experienced service specialists based in our customer support network throughout Europe. Our aim is to provide services quickly and effectively to our customers.

As part of our promise to provide a level of support that exceeds expectations, we offer support and services that include technical support via our 24 hour call centre, in-house repair, training, service agreements, and product services to ensure you get the best value from your security equipment. Every day we work to ensure Eurologix security systems are fully operational and customer enquiries are effectively addressed.

In addition to our full range of support services for our customers, we encourage every employee to generate and develop ideas that will help us to realize our goal - total customer satisfaction. Whether you operate in the civil, government, commercial or military sectors, we offer the same levels of service. Please contact us at info@eurologix.eu to let us know how we can help you.

- Radiation Critical Examination Service
- Maintenance Support Contracts for all types of X-Ray machines
- Spare Parts for all X-ray manufacturers
- Installation and Commission
- X-Ray ADHoc Troubleshooting
- Technical Consultation
- Spare part repairs and refurbishment
- Extended Warranty on parts

Eurologix Security Limited were issued a Certificate of Registration to ISO 9001:2008 in July 2008

24/7/365 Customer Support:- 0800 822 3770

